Anti-stress items are very popular for quick stress relief. The hand movement channels the stress in the kneading ball. Anger can also be reduced with it, so that the items are now also known as anger balls. The Anti-stress square is particularly popular because it can be easily decorated with your logo. Although people like to refer to these items as a stress ball, in this case it is not a ball, but has the shape of a square. This way your advertising gets a little more attention than conventional foam balls with a logo. Have you made your choice? Order your anti-stress items directly from IGO Promo. Running out of printed stress items? No worries! Reorders are very easy via the online account. Discover for yourself how easy it is to have stress items printed with a logo.
